THE LACKAWANNA HUSTLERS

THEY CHORTLE OVER NEW $3,-000,000 HOBOKEN TERMINAL.

It Will Be a Year Nearer Because of the Big Fire, Which Cleared Away Things on Site-Crude but Pleasing Art of the Temporary Wooden Structures.

The "Seeing Hoboken" tug Montclair of the Lackawanna Railroad left Pier 13, North River, shortly after the noon hour yesterday with a party of thirteen Lackawanna officials and newspaper men on a trip to the scene of the big fire which wiped out the railroad's terminal depot and ferryhouse in Hoboken thirteen days ago tonight. The tug steamed up the river to of ferryhouses, maintained by the Pennsylvania, Erie, Lackawanna and Jersey Central. On the trip across to the Jersev shore the crest of the swell of a ferryboat washed over the Montclair's deck aft, and all hands enjoyed the experience. It was the only incident attributable to the numerals 13.

General Passenger Agent T. W. Lee took charge of the party at the immigrant station landing. This structure, of copper and concrete, was completed about a month ago. It was designed as a part of the $3,000,000 terminal for which plans were perfected before the fire made it unnecessary to tear down all the buildings for the work of construction. The immigrant station withstood the flames and probably saved much property on the south from being

The Lackawanna officials pointed with excusable pride to the fact that some folks had husted like good fellows removing the traces of the fire and building a tempothe traces of the fire and building a temporary plant with the proper facilities for the accommodation of a traveling public. There was activity everywhere. Eight of the original nine tracks in the old trainshed were in operation. Crowds of early Saturday afternoon commuters, including Phobe Snow, swarmed off the Barolay and Chartenberg transformings to an illed onto ristopher street ferry boats and piled onto Christopher street ferryboats and piled onto the outg ing trains.

The bungalowlike buildings are painted green, and an effort has been made toward artistic effect. In this the hand of First Vice-President E. E. Loomis is seen. Mr. Loomis took charge of the work of putting things to rights in the absence of President Truesdale, and all his subordinates caught his supirit. At 4 o'clock on the morning his spirit. At 4 o'clock on the morning after the fire 9.0 men were engaged in the task of cleaning up. Red hot iron work and blazing timbers were hauled from the ruins and carried away on cars to the dumping grounds. Order was restored out of chaos in a few hours, and the Lackawanna's patrons, numbering 180,000 a day, both ways, on trains and ferries, had to admit that the road's officials were husters.

All the signs in the temporary buildings are painted on pieces of board with the ends bro en off to give a ragged rustic effect. A carpenter who was being instructed yesterday in the art of getting the proper kind of finish to the boards said, as he wielded the adz: "Say, Mr. Lee, this is the darndest job I ever had. I have always been taught to make things smooth, not rough: but I suppose it's alk right if you say so."

The new terminal will probably be finished in a year and a half. This will be a year earlier than if there had been no fire. Piles are being driven on the site of the new trainshed and depot for the proposed $3,000,000 plant. The structure will have a frontage of 600 feet and will be 200 feet deep. There will be fourteen tracks in the sheds and six ferryslips on the river. sheds and six ferryslips on the river. A tower 225 feet high will surmount the main depot. The entire structure will be fre-proof. Lincoln Bush, the chief engineer, has charge of the work of construction, assisted by J. E. Schnell, both of whom have been busy since the big blaze.

FOUND DEATH ON CHURCH STEPS.

William Holden, Who Stole Jewelry, Killed Himself While Brooding Over Crime. The body of William Holden, 20 years old, of 497 Pavonia avenue, Jersey City, was found yesterday morning on the stone steps of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, at Baldwin and Pavonia avenues. A bottle which had contained carbolic acid, and which had contained carbolic acid, and burns on the man's lips, told a story of sui-cide. Several weeks ago Holden was charged with the theft of some jewelry and admitted his guilt. He was held for the Grand Jury. It is believed he killed him-self while brooding over his trouble.

SOCIAL DEMOCRATS FUME.

The New York section of the Social Democratic party issued a manifesto yesterday denouncing the Police Department for the arrest of Algernon Lee, its candidate for Mayor, and two other Socialists for persisting in holding mass meetings last week. The meetings were forbidden on account of the excitement caused by the recent strike of the Hebrew bakers, which started with riots, especially as the strike was used as a text by the speakers.

"One thing may be stated without doubt or qualification," the manifesto says. "The Social Democratic party will not be browbeaten by the little great men of Mulberry street. It will stand on its rights. It will hold its meetings, and if the police choose to continue their interference the police will get the worst of it in the long run.

"The arm and the torols will be seen and the voice of the class conscious workingman will be heard in New York in spite of Mo-Clellan, McAdoo and all their tools."

It declares that the fining of the arrested parties does not prevent the Social Democratic party from helding its meetings. It says that at a secial meeting of the city executive committee of the party, held later, power was delegated to a sub-committee and it was decided to proceed with the other meetings prohibited by the police. It then goes on to accuse the police of creating disorder. "One thing may be stated without doubt

RAILWAY ON NORWAY'S FRONTIER Will Be Built on the Boundary Between That Country and Sweden.

SCHENECTADY, Aug. 19. - Mr. Trygye Negaard, a Norwegian engineer, is in Schenectady, inspecting the plants of the American Locomotive Company and the General Electric Company. He is sent here for this purpose by the new Norwegian Government. In an interview yesterday,

Mr. Negaard said: "Soon after the dissolution of the alliance between Norway and Sweden I was taken from the engineering corps of the army from the engineering corps of the array of Norway and specially commissioned to visit the United States for the purpose of deciding on the best kind of engines to be used on the Government railroad, which will, when built, extend along the entire frontier between the newly separated countries.

Asked as to the prospects for peace between Sweden and Norway, Mr. Negasard said: "I was not released for this mission from my army commission until all prospects of war were at an end. The fact that the Norwegian Government intends to build this railroad on the frontier, instead of further inland in Norway, tends to show that no further trouble, at least for some time to come, is expected. The soldiers of both armies, however, are still massed at convenient stations along the frontier.

SNOW REMOVAL IN CHICAGO.

Alden, Head of Her Street Cleaners, Visit-ing, Startled at Breeklyn's Bill. Supt. Emmons J. Alden of the Chicago Street Cleaning Department was in Brook-lyn yesterday to study the street cleaning and garbage problem. He visited the stables, ash dumps and stations. When told that the city had melted $500,000 last winter for the removal of snow in Brooklyn he whistled and opened his eyes, exclaiming:

"Thunder and lightning! Why we spent only $60,000 in Chicago last winter for removing the snow, and that was the largest amount in our history. And, do you know, some folks talked about having us indicted for extravagance."

300 IN HOTEL FIRE PANIC. Manifesto Denounces Pelice for Stopping New York Guests Flee From House and

> MONTICELLO, N. Y., Aug. 19.—The Hotel Arlington, a summer boarding house at White Lake, caught fire at 1 o'clock this morning and burned to the ground with its entire contents. The fire started in the roof of the main building.

The house was filled with guests from New York city to the number of about 300. When the alarm was given the guests ran from the house in their night clothing, leaving jewels, money and wearing apparel behind in their flight. A number of the women guests tried to jump from windows, but were prevented. Others fainted and were carried from the burning building. A panic prevailed. Men ran from the house, leaving wives and children behind, forgetting everything but their own safety. There were no serious injuries but many marvelous escapes.

Over two-thirds of the Arlington people are to-day homeless and destitute of clothing and money, except what is being loaned by persons from other houses around the lake. Thousands of dollars in money, is wels and clothing was burned. Only a few on the first floor succeeded in saving their valuables.

The fire caught from a defective flue and was discovered by one of the guests of the house. The house was built in 1893, at a cost of $25,000. The telegraph and telephone wires were overworked this morning by victims of the fire who were communicating with their friends for assistance. apparel behind in their flight. A number

MISHAP TO LA SAVOIE.

French Liner Breaks a Shaft and Comes in With One Engine.

The French liner La Savoie, in yesterday from Havre, fractured the intermediate shaft of her port engine at 7 o'clook on Thursday night, when she was about 600 miles east of Fire Island; otherwise she would have landed her passengers on Friday night, as she often has done before. The cracking of the shaft and the stopping of both engines immediately afterward caused no excitement among the passen-osused no excitement among the passengers, who were at dinner.

A rumor that one of the engineers had been badly burt was denied by the ship's officers and the agent of the line. After the chief engineer had examined the break and found that the port engines could not be used or the shaft even temporarily repaired at sea the ship proceeded under her starboard engine. The line was told by wireless of the Savoie's trouble, and a tug was sent down the bay to assist her around the sharp turns in the channel. She will return to Havre on one leg. A new shaft will probably be shipped at Havre.

After George Lytton, MacDougall Hawkes, C. J. Morse, W. B. Olivier, Mgr. Olivas Recudero, Sishop of Lima, Feru; Edward G. Veith, Mme. de Bocande, widow of the former New York agent of the French line, and A. P. Ordway.

WOMAN LOST FROM LINER. Officers of Philadelphia Think Miss Whitemarch Jumped Overboard.

Miss Clara Whitemarsh, a little English woman, 45 years old, who wore black and seemed to be very melancholy, was missed from the American liner Philadelphia, in yesterday, on Sunday morning, the day after the ship sailed from Cherbourg.

The ship's officers believe that she jumped overboard. She had bought her ticket in London and gave her address as Romford road, Forest Gate. She had only a value and an umbrella, which were found in her stateroom. She was traveling alone.

BANKRUPTCY FOLLOWS ARREST Petition Filed Against Men Who Did Business as J. H. Miller, Tailor.

of Serges, Cheviots and Tweeds,

William Bianchi, of William Bianchi & Co. of 320 Fifth avenue, who caused the arrest of Philip and George Wahlbeimer on Friday for obtaining $12,000 worth of woolen goods under false pretenses, filed a petition in bankruptcy yesterday against Henry Kretch and George Wahlheimer, who transacted their business under the firm name of J. H.

their business under the firm name of J. H. Miller, Tailor, at 316 Broadway.

The creditors named in the petition are William Bianchi, $1,635; Theodore F. Selmann, $265, and House, Mead & Bons, $735. It is alleged that the firm was insolvent on Aug. 16, and that it removed its entire stock of goods to a storage warehouse on East Thirteenth street, giving a bill of sale for the goods to Maria Miller.

Mr. Kratch filed an admission and consented to an adjudication in bankruptcy. The Wahlbeimers were held in $10,000 ball each by Magistrate Whitman in Jefferson Market court on Friday.

The business was started twenty-five years ago by J. H. Miller, who died on Nov. 21, 1896. Charles W. Miller, his son, carried it on until Oct. 15, 1899, when he died. Kretch and Wahlbeimer say they bought the business in December, 1899, and advertised that they would carry it on under the old firm name. They also say they filed a trade certificate to that effect.

PLUS BEARD; MINUS RING. Diamond Dealer at Last Causes the Arrest of Smiling Henry Merris.

Henry Morris, who was nicknamed by his friends as the man with the smile that won't come off, because he took such an optimistic view of life, disappeared from his usual haunts last October. There also disappeared a diamond ring belonging to Henry Fagan, a diamond dealer, of 240 East Houston street, which the dealer valued at $125. He had entrusted the ring to Morris returned to the neighborheod a month ago, but he had grown such a beautiful beard in his absence that none of his acquaintances recognized him until he had reintroduced himself. He still had the irremovable smile, and displayed it when on several occasions he met the diamond dealer. The latter failed to recognize the wearer of the beard.

All might have gone along well if he had not boasted of his smartness in fooling the diamond dealer. Some one told Fagan and the latter on Friday night caused the arrest of Morris.

The prisoner was in the Yorkville police court yesterday charged with the larceny of the ring. His smile was still with him when he pleaded guilty. Magistrate Barlow held him in $1,000 ball for trial.

ACCUSE PRIEST OF LIBEL. Split in Church of St. Stephen of Hungary

Takes a Police Court Turn. On the complaint of Leopold Varhelyi, Magistrate Barlow, sitting in the Yorkville police court, yesterday issued a summons for the Rev. Father Ladislaus Perenyi, pastor of the Roman Catholic Church of St. Stephen of Hungary, at 420 East Fourteenth street, to appear in court to-morrow morning to answer the charge of oriminal Varhelyi, who is president of St. Stephen's Sick and Benefit Society, says that Father Perenyi libeled him and Julius Volgyi, also connected with the society, from the pit, saying that they had refused to turn over $1,200 they collected for the benefit of the society.

There are two factions in the church, which has about 400 members. Father Perenvi is the head of one and Varhelvi and Volgyi lead the other. Dissension has been strong for several months. Some time ago the faction opposing the priest preferred charges against him to Arch-bishop Farley, declaring that he had neglected the poor and sick of the parish and was frequently absent from his duties. Father Perenyi says that the Archbishop refused to entertain the charges.

He denied last night that he had been remise in his priestly duties or that he had libeled anybody. He said that in his ser-mons he had declared that it was wrong for Varhelyi and Volgyi to collect $1,200 and then refuse to turn it over to him as the head of the church. The opponents of the priest say they will bring the matter to the attention of Archbishop Farley and that if they can't get satisfaction from him they will appoint a committee and send it to Rome to put it before the Pope. Father Perenyi says that the statement made by his opponents that the church has lost 200 members or more during the four years of his pastorate is untrue, that on the contrary the church has gained members and is in a prosperous condition.
